TRADING RESTRICTED IN NEW YORK MARKET

Sudden Abandonment of Pool Activities Causes Surprise.

New York, Aug. 29.—Dealing in the stock market was restricted today and price changes were unimportant in most issues. Nearly all active issues showed some declines. The chief feature of the day was the sudden abandonment of pool activities.

Wall Street is of the opinion that between Congress and the Presidents a Wall Street is of the opinion that between Congress and the President, a strike will be averted, but only by the passage of speedy legislation. The financial world has lost confidence in the managers both of the railroads and of the unions. President Wilson's speech to Congress was favorably commented to the test of the particularly as it discounts the test of the on in high circles, particularly as it dis-closed the fact that the President had used all his influence to get an increase of freight rates if proved necessary by experience under the eight-hour day. With a Democratic President willing

With a Democratic President willing to go so far to get a square deal for capital. Wall Street is likely to lose its fear of politics altogether, for candidate Hughes has a record of which the railroads in particular are anot afraid. The strike situation therefore should serve at least one useful purpose in thus removing the fear of the election.

thus removing the fear of the election.

If present earnings were to continue, the roads would not hesitate to grant all that the men are asking, because it is volume and not rates that make earnings. With the President of the United States promising that the roads shall be reimbursed it looked to impartial Wall Street as if the railroad managers had been placed on the defensive.

Studebaker was comparatively weak because of a rumor of new financing. It was denied and the stock quickly recovered. Motors as a whole, however, were not strong because the street believes that the war of price cutting is going to hurt some of them very much.

to hurt some of them very much.

Identity of the insider who has been selling Willys-Overland stock so perristently in recent weeks was learned to-

It is not Mr. Willys. Marine stocks were the most active is-sues and most of the enthusiasm was in the preferred. There is official denial of the report of a plan to retire the pre-ferred with its dividend par for par with common stock and starting the common stock on a dividend immediately. Coppers were neglected.

Coppers were neglected. Wheat having broken severely because of Roumania's entry into the war, rose several cents a bushel today because a rallroad strike would make shipments difficult. Corn was only moderately influenced, for the strike, if called, will be over before the big movement of corn begins.
